Functional Leadership Returns

January 14

The Spring 2015 Functional Leadership Workshop Series kicks off on Wednesday, January 14 in the Union. Presented by the Office of Student Organizations, this series is designed to develop student organization officers and members into knowledgeable and effective leaders. The various sessions teach leaders all they need to know to make the most of their organization during the year -- everything from group icebreakers to recruiting to social media and more!

This series is designed specifically for leaders or officers of officially recognized student organizations, but organization members who do not hold an official position within their group are also highly encouraged to attend. See the series website for more details.
