

Juneteenth Resources

This Juneteenth, we celebrate the end of slavery in the United States and commit to creating a more free, fair, and equitable world. The Carolina Union would like to share local events, monuments and memorials, resources, and lists of Black-owned businesses to help our community mark and celebrate the day.

Events

Town of Carrboro Juneteenth ^[1] Current and former African American elected officials of Orange County have come together to share a Resolution in Recognition of 400 Years of the African American Story. This resolution will be read by the elected officials, who will then recognize past and present African American elected officials in Orange County. Following the resolution and recognition, Dr. Freddie Parker, Professor Emeritus of History at North Carolina Central University, will give a presentation on the history of Juneteenth.
